

State Disaster Recovery Coordinator Contact

As the agency with statutory authority for leading the state's response and recovery efforts for Hurricane Michael, the Division of Emergency Management (Division) is helping Florida's impacted communities transition from life-safety response activities to long term recovery efforts. Just as with the response to the storm, the Division is directing and coordinating the state agencies and all associated programs involved in the recovery process.

As part of this process, the Director of the Division will serve as the State Disaster Recovery Coordinator (SDRC). Under FEMA's National Disaster Recovery Framework, the SDRC will work closely with the Federal Disaster Recovery Coordinator (FDRC) to support, manage and organize recovery efforts on behalf of the state and federal governments.

If you have questions or concerns about your community's recovery from Hurricane Michael, please reach out to the Florida Division of Emergency Management's Deputy Bureau Chief of Recovery Carter Mack at Carter.Mack@EM.MyFlorida.com.

Voting Restrictions Lifted

Gov. Rick Scott issued Executive Order 18-283 today which eases voting restrictions in Bay, Calhoun, Franklin, Gadsden, Gulf, Jackson, Liberty and Washington counties.

According to Scott's order, these eight counties have the ability to extend early voting days and to designate more early voting locations despite the deadline having passed.

In addition, the order also allows counties to send mail ballots to an address other than the address of the voter requesting a ballot and to provide mail ballots to a voter's immediate family member on election day without the need for a signed affidavit declaring an emergency.

Lastly, the order also directs the state Division of Elections and counties to work together to ensure delivery of mail ballots to the thousands of displaced emergency workers so that they can vote.

Debris Removal

To reduce the administrative, operational and financial burdens on counties most impacted by the catastrophic effects of Hurricane Michael, FDOT will assist fiscally-constrained counties with all remaining debris removal and emergency road clearance.

In Holmes, Washington, Jackson, Calhoun, Gulf, Gadsden, Liberty, Franklin and Wakulla counties, FDOT is offering, following the county's voluntary request, to take on responsibility for each county's existing pre-storm emergency debris removal contract at the existing approved contract rate. For more information, please click here.

Information on County-to-County Mutual Assistance
